Quick Product Loading

You will need to setup up a database of working products with barcodes and prices. Fill in the boxes and create a new line or for bulk loading import supplier spreadsheets. If you need to take data away to work on it or for a trade show, then use the built in export facilities.

Stock Ordering

Purchase ordering has the sales background to aid buying decisions using suggested orders. The reorder is calculated taking into account current stock, existing orders and stock in other locations. Goods received are matched to orders so that the correct items are delivered and shortages can be identified. The labels are printed by the system.

Stock Management

Radio handsets correct the stock levels instantly, and can also perform rolling counts. There will of course be adjustments and transfers but it is fully traceable. The radio handsets will also have paybacks in the areas of raising orders, goods inwards, customer enquiries and label requests.

System Reporting

Our epos system has collected your sales data so now we can report on them by sales group, supplier or location. Essentially we are looking at best and worst sellers, and comparing sales against previous years. Variances in stock, sales or margin are examined by more detailed enquiries drilling down to transaction levels.

Choose the right system and start turning epos into profit, it ticks all the boxes

The Open Retail office software offers a scalable solution that will control stock for one shop or a chain of stores or in remote storage locations, all with full audit and reporting.
